

KENT NATURAL BURIALS LTD

NEWSLETTER ~ JANUARY 2012

Not wishing to break with tradition - the weather is the opening topic! So far we've escaped snow and ice, and for the most part temperatures are mild, meaning that recent burials have had comfortable conditions. However, we lack rain. For the first time, since we opened in 2007, we lost a number of memorial trees due to drought. Deerton has struggled. The trees have been replaced but the influx of creeping thistles has been difficult. The maintenance staff have spent much time pulling the thistles out by hand and the 'cut-back' has been more severe. Hopefully, these measures will help curb the thistles re-growth and allow all the wild flowers and grasses to make a come back.

Tree Planting Day 2012

This year Tree Planting Day will be Saturday, 3rd March. On this day family and friends of those buried since last Tree Planting Day are invited to come and plant a tree, or have it planted for them, in memory of their loved ones. Should others of you wish to come along and plant bulbs or woodland plants you would be most welcome.

Last Bench

In time for the winter holiday the last bench was installed. To all those who sent donations towards its purchase and installation - we say a sincere thank you. The bench is set in an area which permits an excellent over-view of Deerton and another place for quiet reflection.

A Little Reminder

Grave markers and floral tributes must be in keeping with Deerton's philosophy. Unsuitable items will be removed. Please ring the office if you have any queries.

Thank you

The Directors and Staff of Kent Natural Burials Ltd send their best wishes to you for 2012 and thank you once more for your continued support.
