

Tree Planting Day, Saturday 12th March 2011, saw upwards of a hundred and eighty family and friends gather at Deerton Natural Burial Ground, Teynham. In the morning it was bright though a little chilly but towards the end of the day the grey sky was back.

This day is a highlight in Kent Natural Burials calendar. It is a day of tears and laughter, of exchanges of memories and a catch up with what has happened since folks met for the funeral.

Too young to plant trees but not to investigate this new environment.
